The following is a letter received by the local president of the Red Cross Society:
Dear Mrs. Parry:
Very many thanks for the supplies received from your Society on July 28th. Will you convey our very hearty appreciation to all the workers who contributed to this shipment?

May I suggest that great care should be taken in all seams in large garments. These seams should be flat; in bags such as hot water bottle covers they should be french or flat; in any case no raw edges should be left.

We were very glad to get such a useful shipment when large garments such as shirts, bed jackets, pajamas, etc. are very much needed.

We have just received word from our head office that no more wash, cheese cloth handkerchiefs, bed pads, roller bandages, or prepared dressings such as pads, compresses, dressings, etc., are required at the moment. We would advise therefore that you should concentrate on the other articles.

Thanking you for your interest, I remain, Yours very truly,

YPRES HERO WEDS

On Wednesday afternoon the church at Graveley, England, was well attended by parishioners to witness the wedding of a brave Canadian to an attractive member of a local family.

The contracting parties were Sergeant-Major Winter, 10th Battalion, Canadian Regiment, (formerly of Handsworth, Birmingham), and Miss Nellie Worby, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Worby of Graveley.

Some public interest attaches to the bridegroom, for he was one of the officers engaged in a terrible but for us victorious, struggle with the pick of the Kaiser's Army—the Prussian Guards—at the second battle of Ypres, when the Canadian made such a gallant effort for the Motherland. Sergeant-Major Winter was wounded so badly that he has been in the hospital for thirteen months, but on Wednesday he was well enough to come to Graveley and claim his bride.

The marriage ceremony was performed by the rector, the Rev. Cheslyre Walker, M. A., and the service was choral. "Lead us Heavenly Father," and "May the Grace of Christ our Saviour," were included in the service. The choir was wholly composed of young women. Mr. Joseph Ellis, organist, played several wedding marches and a selection from Lohengrin at suitable intervals.

The bride was given away by her father. She was dressed in the new Paris shade of light gables, and wore a leghorn hat with cluster of ostrich feathers and pearls. Her jewelry was an opal diamond ring—the bridegroom's gift. Her shawl—boquet was composed of carnations, lilies of the valley and roses. Her two principal maids (sisters) wore suitable costumes and bicorn colored hats, and carried shawls bouquets of pink ramblers roses and pink sweet peas. The three little maids (the bride's nieces) made the scene picturesque. They wore ramblers roses in their hair, carried bright roses in their hands and wore dresses of silk. Mrs. Worby the bride's mother, wore a black voile dress with mauve flowers, and a black hat with an ostrich plume. Her shawl bouquet was of mauve flowers and white roses. The best man was Sergeant-Major Tomsett, 19th Canadian Battalion, another Ypres hero. The present list was numerous, including gifts from many Graveley and Sleevange readers.

Sergeant-Major and Mrs. George Ernest Winter left by a Hitchin train for their honeymoon, after which the plucky officer has been given executive work at the Canadian Special Hospital at Ramsgate, he being unfit for further active service.

Reports have come in from different parts of the district that several fields of grain have been harvested and with continued fair weather harvesting will be general throughout the district by next week.

John Wannamaker issued an open letter to the Associated Advertising Clubs Convention, which met recently in Philadelphia, and he told his own experience in advertising. In 1861, when he closed his first day's business as head of a retail store, he had $24.67 in the till. He left the 67 cents in the till and spent the $24 in advertising, and he claims that he was wise.

L. C. Jackson, Secretary of the Munson Agricultural Society, wishes to inform the Fair prize winners that the prize money is now ready and will be paid by applying at his office.

Craigmyle Farm Clubs

Mr. B. C. Milne, assistant superintendent of the Lacombe experimental farm, lectured to the farm men and women's clubs at Craigmyle on the evening of Aug. 17th. There was an attendance of about 50 with Mr. James Smith the President of the U. F. A., in the chair. Mr. Milne who is not only a practical farmer but a full fledged B. S. A. divided his lecture into five heads, namely: Live stock, poultry, trees, horticulture and agriculture, but devoted most of his time to the culture of potatoes as that was the subject he had been asked to lecture on. He advised cutting the seed potatoes into sets with about 8 eyes in each, dropping the sets about 14 inches apart in the furrow and covering to the depth of 5 inches. He advocated most strongly the co-operative shipping of potatoes from this locality, as he has rarely seen soil better fitted for the growing of this vegetable, but advised all the farmers to raise the same varieties so the car loads might be as uniform as possible. For this purpose he recommended the "Early Ohio" for an early shipment and "Table Talk" or "Wee McGregor" for the main crop, the latter giving the heaviest yield. However he thought that in a country so well adapted to potatoes it would be found to be more profitable to raise "elite" seed for shipment in sealed cases to the United States.

After the conclusion of the lecture, Dr. Crawford was called to the platform and for ten minutes gave us a straight-from-the-shoulder raking about our bad roads. He said the Alberta Government appropriated $4,000,000 for public works, mostly roads, and he did not think that we were getting one dollar out of that was our share. Under his vigorous handling, J. E. Blore was named to interview the Government at Edmonton, and Messrs. Nixon, Vanson and Dr. Crawford to see the council.

A share of the grant made by the Dominion Government for the building of public highways in this Province.

Be it therefore resolved that we, the Local Union of Craigmyle No. 242, do hereby appoint J. E. Blore, U. F. A. Director of the Bow River Constituency to wait upon the Minister of Public Works at Edmonton, to inquire if anything can be done to assist us in this great necessity; and to inquire if the Hand Hill Constituency is obtaining its fair share of the grant made by the Dominion Government for the building of public highways in this Province.

Craigmyle Farmers Ask for Better Roads

The following resolution was passed at a regular meeting of the Craigmyle Local U. F. A. No. 242, on Saturday, August 12, 1916:

"Whereas the roads in the vicinity of Craigmyle, especially the roads running North and South, are in bad shape, and in many places impassable. And whereas the farmers will be compelled to haul an enormous quantity of grain over these bad roads before freezing. And whereas our member to the Provincial Parliament, Major R. B. Eaton is away at the War, and unable to represent us in this matter.

Be it therefore resolved that we, the Local Union of Craigmyle No. 242, do hereby appoint J. E. Blore, U. F. A. HOW GERMANS HAVE TORTURED UNHAPPY PRISONERS OF WAR

FRIGHTFUL TORTURES INFLICTED BY THE ENEMY

Force Prisoners of War to Perform Convict Labor, and If They Refuse They are Unmercifully Beaten and Subjected to Other Cruelty by the Barbarians

Fresh testimony comes to hand from Germany how the frightful tortures imposed by the enemy on prisoners of war, French, Russian and British prisoners who refuse to perform convict labor, are unmercifully beaten and subjected to other cruelty by the barbarians.

April 6 and 7, really, unmercifully atrocious incidents. The men who refused to go to work in the factories were savagely beaten with the fists of the heavy sickles and by the feet until they pitifully gave in and promised to continue to go to work. The heavy sickles were brought to his notice, the colonel replied, "It will be always so wherever you go, you must obey." You may imagine the dreadful plight of those wretched forced to work against their brothers and against their country.

This is but another infamy which goes to swell the already long list of the many others, and which is useless to effect. And what can one say as to the suffering inflicted upon the Russian prisoners in Germany as revealed by the reports of the Red Cross.

These details of information contained in the Red Cross reports are so horrible and so abominable that they are almost unendurable. The prisoners are made to travel under such conditions and are subjected to such hardships and humiliations that many die during the journey from prison to prison. The prisoners are made to travel under such conditions and are subjected to such hardships and humiliations that many die during the journey from prison to prison.

The prisoners are made to travel under such conditions and are subjected to such hardships and humiliations that many die during the journey from prison to prison.

All this the poor miserable prisoners endure most heroically; it is the best chance they have of greater infamy. There have been reports of similar incidents which repeat themselves every day where the prisoners are made to work against their country, cut off either one or two of their fingers, or even whole hands.

In the German system of representative penal servitude, the prisoners are made to work against their country, cut off either one or two of their fingers, or even whole hands.

Russia's Food Supply

Special Bureau Established for Distribution of Foodstuffs

The Czar has appointed a special bureau to relieve the distress among the lower classes of the large cities and industrial centers. With the aid of experts furnished by the Department of the Interior and the military ministry the commission is to organize the distribution of foodstuffs on an efficient basis. The commission has sweeping powers and may cause the arrest of all speculators cornering supplies to drive the prices up. It will also regulate all foodstuffs in the hands of speculators so as to be controlled and paid for by the market value.

Among the members of the commission in the southern and Siberian provinces ascertained the exact amount of foodstuffs and the number of people that can be requisitioned and brought to large cities and thickly populated parts of the Empire. For the special railroad service is to be organized. Over three hundred freight trains are to be run to Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev and other cities daily from the frontiers.

The distribution of the foodstuffs special bureau is established in all cities and larger towns. These bureaus will be directly responsible to the Ministry of the Interior for the equal distribution of foodstuffs. The sugar manufacturing bureau has been requested to estimate of their possible maximum stocks on hand at the disposal of the Government.

Money Expended Freely

A Big Sisterhood Is Needed to Reduce the Cost of Living

An investigation into the increased cost of living attendant on war conditions, and the effect on the households of Toronto reveals that the cost of living is increasing.

The cost of living, so far as the households' bills are concerned, has risen from 30 per cent to 50 per cent.

Dealers worry for the fact that they can scarcely remember a time when the household's money circulated with more freedom.

The reasons for inflated prices for the most part are undoubtedly legitimate, the chief factors being the shortage of raw materials and the increased cost of labor and other expenses.

On the other hand, war-time expenses are brought about by the increased cost of labor and other expenses.

New Blouses Go Over the Skirt

*Pongee With Foulard
Trimmings*

*The Familiar Russian
Blouse in Voile*

*This Double Peplum
Is Interesting*

WELCOME the peplumed blouse! And the blouse in one piece, which is a close cousin to the peplumed blouse because it goes over the skirt instead of under! Away with annoying waist fixings and high-waisted skirt which breaks the lines of the short woman! This is the comfortable kind of blouse that you slip on at the last minute and makes you forget all about possible rifts between skirt and blouse.

Here you have five varieties of the blouse which goes over the skirt.

The striped handkerchief linen is made in one piece—that is, there is no separate peplum set under the belt, but the whole blouse is just an elongation of the plain shirtwaist pattern. It has a collar of organdie edged with self-pleating.

Two shaped peplums which even the stout figure would not rebel at make the blouse of light-blue linen interesting. This, too, would be an ordinary shirtwaist were the peplums not added, one under and the other over a belt of the linen.

A yellow voile makes a bright note atop a white serge skirt. It is trimmed with stitchings of golden-brown silk, and buttons on the side with white silk-covered buttons. The collar and sash are of the white silk, picoté on the edges. This is a true Russian-blouse model, and is consequently a graceful representative of the over-blouse style.

Pongee and foulard have been cleverly combined for another blouse on the Russian order. This is in one piece from shoulder to hem. Its other style features are the deep sailor collar in back and the use of polka-dotted material for trimming.

Polka dots in groups of three make the coral-and-white taffeta blouse almost amusing. Its short apology for a peplum is enough to rank it among the blouses which go over the skirt.
